Permanent

Permanent vacancies with Orion

Orion understand the importance of placing the right candidate in the right job and with our combined experience and strong record. We know what it takes to meet your needs and we can provide a range of flexible models of recruitment that deliver and at the right cost for your organisation. Get in touch now to find our more Permanent Recruitment

Orion approaches permanent recruitment differently. Whilst, we seek out talent on behalf of organisations, our service is a departure from that offered by most traditional search firms in many ways.

Candidate's opinions of an organisation are directly impacted by the service we provide. We act as an extension of 'the client' throughout the recruitment process therefore ensuring candidate satisfaction from the outset.

PartnerPlus – Revolutionising recruitment within Technical and Engineering sectors

Specialising within the Global Filtration and Nonwoven industries, PartnerPlus brings a refreshing approach to direct hire, offering an unrivalled service to market leaders. The PartnerPlus model is a service line that sits in between the standardised contingent offering and the traditional retained search model, moving away from the outdated practices of agencies (and companies) searching standardized job boards and competing for placements.

As an alternative, we create a strong working relationship with our clients, by offering a more in-depth focussed service, uncovering talent that isn't normally visible. Our subject matter experts take the time to fully understand the role, the pinch points and as equally important learn about the culture and history. With employee retention a major – and costly – challenge for many clients, these are all critical components of ensuring they hire the right person, rather than the most available.
